~From Mother and Siblings~

You were mom's first born, Dee Dee's first friend and our protector. You always showed us that through anything you would be there for us when we needed you. You influenced our lives in subtle ways like helping your younger brother attend a dance, offering words of encouragement when it seemed no one else noticed, and even in the music we listened to. Annette will always hold dear your words of how proud you were of how she raising Jaidin. What will remain our focus is how you built your life. You didn't do things for the moment but to last a lifetime. If there is one thing that we can say about you it would be that you loved your family. You exemplified what it was to be a strong black man and a devoted husband and father. Sis would have been proud of you and the influence she had on your life. We will miss your philosophical conversations, your calm demeanor, your intellect, your movie reviews, the way you used music as a soundtrack for your life, your infectious laugh and your beautiful smile. Most of all we are just going to miss you and the way your essence permeated so many of our lives. Shawn you were loved, and you will be missed every single day. We find solace knowing you are resting in Jesus' arms. Job well done.
We will see you when we get there.

Love Janice, Whitney and the girls!

To My Husband

Husband, Provider, Protector, Lover and Friend and so much more. From the first day we met, we both knew it was meant to be. The love and memories we've shared over the past 19 years is incomparable to anything I could have ever imagined. God has blown my mind with you and I continue to thank him daily for what we had. All times were not good but it was well worth it. The growth that was shown throughout our marriage has made me a better person. Your love, compassion, attentiveness, your willing to go the extra mile, your support was everything a wife could ask for. Words can not express how I feel, you know my heart and you know that you are already missed. Thank you for all that you have done for our children, for me and our family. Love you always – Lawanda
